

Interpreting for Emerging Signers

CEUs: 0.25 PS CEUs

Description:

This workshop will be a virtual presentation of the literature around and original research findings about the language profile of emerging signers and other dysfluent signers. This includes specific techniques found to be effective when interpreting for this population. Data will be presented using graphs, raw data videos, images, and description.

Presenter – Cami Miner:

Cami Miner was interested in sign from a young age, taking ASL classes and actively involved the local Deaf community starting in high school. After completing her ITP and her BA in Linguistics from UCSD, she began her career as an interpreter in her hometown of San Diego. She was awarded NIC certification in 2011. Enrolling in Gallaudet in 2017, she earned her MA in Interpreting Research with honors in 2018 and left the PhD program as ABD in 2022 to return to interpreting full time. While her research focuses on emergent signers, she is also fascinated by all varieties of sign language contact. She loves to travel and was inspired by her contact sign interactions with Deaf signers in Mexico, Cuba, and Taiwan. She is passionate about implementing research findings and linguistic knowledge into interpreting practice.
